

Tasmanian Energy Forum (TEF)

Thursday, 29th April 2010, Hobart

Hotel Grand Chancellor

1 Davey Street, Hobart

Tasmanian electricity, gas and energy network charges are facing significant upward pressure. Contestability and choice of electricity retailer is becoming a reality in Tasmania, but competition is very limited. The Carbon Pollution Reduction Scheme and expanded Renewable Energy Target will also increase energy costs.

This 1-day seminar will provide a comprehensive update for Tasmanian energy users and others interested in electricity and gas prices, energy market conditions and outlooks. Other areas to be covered include Tasmanian energy issues, negotiating electricity deals, climate change, renewable energy and other topical issues. We will bring together expert, independent and informed analysis, and include local and national speakers.

Bringing together Tasmanian energy users, the Tasmanian energy industry and other stakeholders in an intensive day focused on Tasmanian energy issues. DON'T MISS IT!

...Tasmanian power prices already have jumped more than 30 per cent in the past three years, with concerns that electricity costs could soar a further 12-20 per cent from July.
